JOSEPH C. LINCOLN,
Author of "Cap'n Eric"

Copyright, 1905, by A. S. Barnes & Co.

Bradley picked up his bundle—he had brought it in with him—and slipped out of the side door, presenting himself a moment later in the glory of his new clothes to the critical gaze of the old maids.

When Bradley started for school the next day his head was ringing with instructions from the old maids concerning his behavior and attention to his studies.

"Now, be a good boy, Bradley," said Miss Prissy.
"Yes, Bradley," said Miss Tempy. "Remember, we expect a great deal of you. All our people have been smart scholars."

"Just as he turned into the main road he heard some one calling and turned to see his acquaintance of yesterday, the girl next door, running to catch up, her hood slipped back from her hair and a dotted pin fell to her hand. Being a girl, Gus carried her hood luncheon during the winter months instead of coming home to eat it.

On the way to school they met another girl, whom Gus introduced as Clara Hopkins, a chum of hers. "She's the tip-top," said Gus. "She's got most as many checks as I have," was her recommendation.

Uptairs at the schoolhouse was a large room, with rows of double desks on each side and a wide aisle in the center. One side of the aisle was the girls' side, and the other was for the boys. Mr. Daniels attired hands with the new scholar, asked him some questions concerning his progress in his studies and showed him where he should sit. The more advanced pupils occupied the desks at the rear of the room, and the younger ones—Bradley among them—sat in front. Bradley's seat mate was an older boy than he, rather good looking, with curly hair. His name, so he whispered before school began, was Sam Hammond.

At recess Bradley went out on the playground for a little while, but he felt rather lonesome among so many strangers and so returned to the schoolroom. It was empty, the teacher taking his customary "constitutional" in the yard. After a few minutes Gus came bounding in.

"Why, Brad," she exclaimed, "where've you been? I've been lookin' for you. Why didn't you come on out?"
"Oh, I don't know," replied the boy. "I don't know any of the fellows yet."

"Well, you're goin' to know 'em. Oh, my goodness! Winfield!"

The stub tailed dog sat patting at her feet, three inches of red tongue hanging from his mouth.

"You naughty, naughty dog!" cried Gus almost in tears. "How dare you! Go home this minute!"

"Go home, Winfield," commanded Bradley, coming to the rescue.

Winfield had gone home by the shed route already that morning and didn't propose to do it again. When his mistress tried to catch him he retreated to a safe distance and wagged his tail.

"Oh, what shall we do?" wailed Gus. "Recess is 'most over, and if Mr. Daniels finds him here I don't know what'll happen!"

Bradley made a dash at the dog, and the latter started to run about the room. At length they drove him out the "boys' door" at the other side.

Finally, peeped in with both doors shut and found the dog, he dashed into the closet which was between the doors, and hid behind the wood box.

"Now," said Gus excitedly, "you watch that he don't get out, and I'll crawl in after him. Oh, my goodness, there's Mr. Daniels comin' now!"

The covetous looks of the teacher were heaved on the stairs. Bradley, in desperation, shut the closet door upon the imprisoned Winfield. Mr. Daniels stepped to the rope in the entry and gave it a pull. The bell above responded with a single note, and the scholars began to pour up the stairs.

"We will come to order," commanded the teacher. Bradley, glancing across the aisle at Gus, saw that she was as white as the whitewashed wall.

"First class in arithmetic," said Mr. Daniels, and then from the closet came a long, dismal wailing. The first class in arithmetic stopped in its tracks and looked aghast. The whole school, and with two exceptions, picked up its ears. The exceptions trembled.

"We wow-wow" came from the closet. Mr. Daniels strode across the floor and opened the door.

"No dog is this!" he demanded sternly.
None answered.

"Come out of that!" commanded the teacher savagely. He reached behind the wood box and, seizing the cowering Winfield by the scruff of the neck, tossed him into the room. "Whose dog is this?" he repeated.

Most of the scholars knew whose dog it was, but none of them told.
"I asked a question!" thundered the master. "Who put that—that creature in the closet?"

Bradley looked at his fellow conspirator. Then he held up his hand. "I did," he said.

Mr. Daniels' mouth opened in surprise. New pupils did not usually begin in this way.
"You didn't?" he gasped.
"Yes, sir. He fol— I mean he came Into the room when 'twas recess, and we—I tried to put him out, and he wouldn't!"

"So you shut him in the closet. Brilliant youth! As this is your first day here, I suppose I must stretch a point and believe it was done on purpose. If it had been any other of the scholars I should have made an example of 'em. I am surprised that you should treat your little brother" (appreciative titter from the school) "in such a manner. You may put him out."

It was easy enough to command, but not so easy to do. The dog, frightened at the crowd, backed away when Bradley approached.

"Come here, Winfield," said the boy, his face a bright crimson. The school giggled at the name.

"Winfield" repeated Mr. Daniels. "What that name, if you please?"
"I—I don't know, sir."

"You don't know?"
"No, sir." And then the boy had a happy thought. "He's named after General Hancock, I guess."

General Winfield Scott Hancock, in his role of statesman, was very much in the public eye just at this time.

Mr. Daniels hesitated. He was much suspected of the dog's real namesake, but he wasn't sure, and being a weak man was afraid of making a mistake.

"Well, put the creature out!" he snarled, and then, losing his temper at stinging a kick at the dog, he commanded, "Get out, you brute!"

That kick was a mistake. Winfield wasn't used to kicks, and this one scotched his dog-like senses completely. He started on a panicky, yelping flight, hotly pursued by Bradley. Down the aisle by the "boys' side," across the back of the room among the feet of the "first class in arithmetic" and up the "girls' side" sped the chase.

At the end of the second lap the entire school was in a roar. Mr. Daniels, white with rage, took a hand in the pursuit, and his efforts and those of two or three more volunteers only made matters worse.

At length the dog, hemmed in on both sides, hesitated in the middle of the broad aisle. Suddenly he darted toward the closet once more. Mr. Daniels leaped to intercept him, tripped, struck the stool upon which the bucket of drinking water was placed and sprawled upon the floor in the center of a miniature flood, while Winfield, leaping over him, dashed through the entry and down the stairs, a shrieking maniac.

The dripping Mr. Daniels was physically cool, but mentally very warm indeed. "Checks," he distributed with liberality and two boys were "ferried" before 12 o'clock came. One of these sufferers was Bradley's seat mate, Sam Hammond.

Bradley went home alone. When the old maids asked him innumerable questions concerning how he "got along" at school he simply answered, "All right," and gave no details. Miss Tempy was somewhat worried at his silence and confided to her sister the fear that he had been "staidy" in the school.

It was nearly 1 o'clock when the boy re-entered the school yard. As he did so a shout went up from a group near the fence.

"Here he is!" yelled one of the older boys. "Here's your beau, Gus. He won't let 'em plague his girl, you bet!"

"No," shouted Sam Hammond. "Gus's all right now, ain't she? He'll take care of her."

"Gusy had a little dog."

"Is hee was black'd a crow?"

"You shut up!" screamed Gus, breaking from the circle and stamping her foot savagely. Her face was red, and there were tears in her eyes.

"You shut up!" screamed Gus, breaking from the circle and stamping her foot savagely. Her face was red, and there were tears in her eyes.

"What's the matter, Gus?" asked Bradley, coming up.

"Haw, haw!" laughed Sam gleefully. "I told you so. Bradley'll take care of her."

"Bradley Nickerson, so they say, goes a-courin' night and day; And Gusy hakes it his bride."

"What's the matter, Gus?" he added mockingly.

"What is the matter?" repeated Bradley.

"None of your business!" snapped Gus, who was in no mood to be friendly with any one. "You jest wait, Sam Hammond! I'll fix you! Got wipped in school! Ha, ha! Cry baby!"

She gave an exaggerated imitation of her enemy's facial contortions during the "feruling" that morning.

"Come on, Gus," intoned Clara Hopkins. "He isn't worth talkin' to. Come on, I've got somethin' to show you."

Gus reluctantly suffered herself to be led away said the derisive bootings of Sam and his friends.

"Ain't you goin' with her?" asked Sam provocatively. "She wants her Braddy, so's to take care of her if Winfield comes to school again."

Bradley's temper was slow to rise, but it was rising now.

"Who are you talkin' to?" he demanded.

"Who Who do you s'pose?"

"Well, you'd better shut up."

"I had! S'pose I don't want to?"

"You ain't the size. Takes a man, not a monkey."

"I'll show you whether I'm the size or not."

"You will?"

"Aw, give me one of the bigger boys."

"I wouldn't take that from no Volvintoid kid, if I was you, Sam."

"Nor I, neither," said another.

"Stop your shavin'!" commanded Sam, giving his enemy a push with his shoulder.

"Stop yourself," said Bradley, pushing back.

"I'll put a head on you so's the old maids won't know you."

Mr. Daniels tripped.

"I'll make you snivel worse 'n you did in school this mornin'."

"He followed her like a spectator in huge disgust. 'Fore I'd take that!" The Hammond boy did not really want to fight, but, thus goaded, he suddenly gave Bradley a violent push with both hands. The next instant both youngsters were clasped tightly together, gripping each other about the neck and wrestling savagely. It was a moment they felt with a thump and rolled over and pouncing, kicking and scratching. The snow flew, and the crowd whooped and pushed and strained to see better.

Ten there was a rush, a frightened scurry, and both combatants were pulled apart and jerked to their feet, while Mr. Daniels, holding each by the coat collar, glared down upon them.

"You may come with me," he said, with chilling calmness.

The scene in the schoolroom that followed was brief, but exciting. Bradley held out his hand and bit his lip stubbornly while the female descended—once, twice, twelve times.

"There!" said the teacher. "Now you may take your seat. For a new scholar you begin extremely well, Sam!"

The Hammond hand having received its share of beating and its owner also sent to his seat, Mr. Daniels said: "Both of you will lose your afternoon recess. I shall also give each of you a note, telling of your punishment, to take home."

At half past 4 that afternoon Bradley, with the note tightly clasped in his hand, walked demurely up the walk to the Allen back door. The thought that he had disgraced himself forever in the eyes of his protectors burned in a fire under his new cap; also there was a bitter feeling that Gus, the cause of all his trouble, had not been there to console or ask pardon.

It was typical of the boy that he had not thought of destroying the note. He handed it to Miss Prissy the moment he opened the door. She read it and sat heavily down in the china rocker.

"My soul and body!" she wailed. "Tempy Allen, come here this minute! Here, for mercy's sake, read this!"

Miss Tempy's agitation was even more marked than that of her sister. "Oh, oh, oh!" she cried, waving the condemning sheet of paper like a distress signal. "How could you? How could you? I don't believe a relation of the Allens was ever bopped in school before. What shall we do, Prissy?"

And his first day too!"

"Tell the whole story now—every word."

The boy began slowly. He told of shutting the dog in the closet, but was interrupted by the older sister, who demanded, "How could you?"

"How was it?" she asked. "Why don't you answer? Don't you know?"

"Yes'm."

"Then who was it?"

Bradley shifted his feet uneasily on the mat.

"Ain't goin' to tell? Why, I nev—"

She was interrupted. The door behind Bradley flew open, and Gus appeared, fearful, but determined.

"Miss Prissy and Miss Tempy," she began, "don't you scold Bradley—don't you, now, a bit. It was all my fault, every mite of it. Oh, dear, dear!"

And, with sobs and amid the ejaculations of the astonished sisters, she told

An Abrupt Finale.

Joquin Miller had just won recognition as the poet of the Sierras and was working on a paper in Oregon. He had been contributing verses and short stories and had just begun a tale about the soldiers on the frontier who suffered with scurvy. The editor wanted the scurvy story for the morning publication, but Joquin Miller could not concentrate upon his work. His mind leaped to the anticipated joy of a great social function occurring that evening. However, he had proceeded in his story to the point of the conditional cure for the disease where all the soldiers suffering with scurvy had been buried, with only their heads exposed to view. The editor was yelling "Copy!" The poet's mind refused to work. He could not finish the tale, leaving his soldiers in such a plight. Suddenly an inspiration came to him. He grabbed his pencil and wrote rapidly the following words:

"And a she wolf came along and ate off all their heads." Then he made a bee line for the door and was not seen again until the next day. His story was not published.

Mix This At Home.

The following simple home-made mixture is said to readily relieve and overcome any form of Rheumatism by forcing the kidneys to filter from the blood and system all the uric acid and poisonous waste matter, relieving at once such symptoms as backache, weak kidneys and bladder and blood diseases.

Try it, as it doesn't cost much to make, and is said to be absolutely harmless to the stomach.

Get the following harmless ingredients from any good pharmacy: Fluid Extract Cathart, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

This simple mixture is said to give prompt relief, and there are very few cases of Rheumatism and Kidney troubles it will fail to cure permanently.

These are all harmless, every-day drugs and your druggist should keep them in the prescription department; if not, have him order them from the wholesale drug houses for you, rather than fail to use this, if you are afflicted.

A WEEK'S HAPPENINGS

RELATING TO AFFAIRS IN THIS AND ADJOINING STATES.

Kentucky Racing Law Is Upheld. Revision of Congressional Apportionment Law Attacked—Other Matters of Interest.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 9.—The United States circuit court of appeals upheld the constitutionality of the Kentucky law empowering the governor to appoint a racing board to control horse racing in the state. The case came up on an application by the Douglas Park jockey club Louisville for a rehearing of their petition to enjoin Charles T. Grainger and the other members of the racing board from fixing dates for their racing meetings. In the original hearing this court found against the contention of the club that the racing board law was unconstitutional. The court then, on a rehearing, thus again upholding the Kentucky racing law.

Dawson's Message. Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 11.—Governor Dawson's message to the legislature is devoted to the new system of taxation now in force and he recommends its extension so as to do away with all direct state taxes. He further recommends that the United States senators by direct vote of the people; legislation protecting policyholders in life, accident and fire insurance companies; and prevention of the waste of natural gas. He advocates a railroad commission and that a law be enacted to provide that all cases of appeal by railroad from assessment be made at some central court instead of each county at present.

Districts Attacked. Greensburg, Ky., Jan. 8.—A suit was filed in court by Charles Richardson on behalf of the Republican party, attacking all revisions of the Kentucky congressional apportionment law, approved April 15, 1882. It is specifically sought to require that Green, Taylor and Hart counties be thrown to the Eleventh district, where they were under the original act, and taken from the Fourth district, where they were placed by a subsequent act of the Kentucky legislature. The suit is against H. Y. McCleary, secretary of state, and the clerks of the Green, Hart and Taylor county courts.

Suicide of Bailiplayer. Louisville, Ky., Jan. 11.—Sitting before a mirror and gazing at the photograph of a young actress, who he had so arranged that he might behold it with his dying glance, Bob Lankers, one of the best-known bullfighters in Louisville ever produced, drank an ounce of carbolic acid and died just as he was being taken to the city hospital. The photograph was that of Miss Edie Cressey, who appeared at the Avenue theatre two seasons ago with the "To Die at Dawn" company. Lankers had played in several leagues.

Carpenters Strike. Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 11.—About 100 carpenters employed by the Selden-Brock company went on strike. One of the strikers said the trouble was over the company employing nonunion labor. It is claimed an effort will be made to enlist the support of all union carpenters employed by the company, which has extensive building contracts throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. The Selden-Brock company maintains general offices at St. Louis and Louisville.

Harmony Between Races. Lexington, Ky., Jan. 8.—Every prominent white and negro preacher in this city attended a joint meeting to discuss the subject of promoting harmony between the two races. Rev. C. E. Smith, negro, made an address in which he said: "We do not want social equality, we want the aid and sympathy of the white people. Another meeting will be held in February."

Famous Mare Dead. Lexington, Ky., Jan. 10.—Reckon, one of the greatest race mares and dams in America, died at the Dixiana farm. Reckon was 20 years old. She was purchased five years ago by S. B. Brown of Pittsburgh for $17,000. After Brown's death Reckon was purchased at dispersal sale by Harry Brown, owner of Dixiana, for $5,000.

West Virginia Legislature. Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 10.—The legislature convened and immediately adjourned after effecting an organization. In the session J. H. McDermott was elected president, and in the house J. A. Seaman was elected speaker. Both were caucus nominees of the Republicans, who have overwhelming majorities in both branches.

Joint Caucus Called. Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 11.—Announcement of a joint caucus of the Republican members of the legislature will be held Monday night to decide on a candidate to succeed United States Senator Elkins was read in the legislature.

Warm at Louisville. Louisville, Ky., Jan. 10.—The temperature reached a maximum of 71 degrees, equalling the highest previous record 30 years ago for the first decade of January.

New Shah of Persia. Tehran, Jan. 10.—Environed with the new shah, Mohammed Ali Mirza, to succeed his deceased father, Muzaffer-Din, was fixed for the Chahar-Bagh, the Persian capital, where he will be celebrated Feb. 2.

THIRTY KILLED.

Mexican Troops Fire on Rioters, Hitting One Hundred.

City of Mexico, Jan. 9.—Reports received from Rio Blanco and Nogales, in the Oribia mill district, indicate that the government has completely mastered the situation. The strikers have ceased all acts of violence in the presence of the large body of troops rushed there from this capital and nearby garrisons. The seriousness of the affair, however, was realized when it was made known that 30 of the workmen were killed outright and over 80 wounded by the soldiers, who were compelled to fire on the mob of the rioters before they could be dispersed.

Fixes Hours of Trainmen.

Washington, Jan. 11.—By a vote of 70 to 1 the senate passed the measure providing that any railroad employee who is engaged in the handling of trains shall not work more than 16 consecutive hours, which period is to be divided by 10 hours of duty. The one negative vote cast was by Senator Pettus. The bill which was finally passed was a substitute offered by Senator La Follette, and not the one it was amended in several respects by the senate. The bill provides that under certain contingencies and in case of accident the time fixed may be exceeded. The enforcement of the law is placed in the hands of the interstate commerce commission and the federal courts, the penalty provided being a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000. The act is to apply to trains doing an interstate or foreign commerce business.

May Live 100 Years.

The chances for living a full century are excellent in the case of Mr. Jennie Duncan, of Haynesville, Mo., now 70 years old. She writes: "Electric Bitters cured me of Chronic Dyspepsia of 30 years standing, and made me feel as well and strong as a young girl." Electric Bitters cure Stomach and Liver Disorders, Blood Disorders, General Debility and Indigestion. Sold on a guarantee by Severs Drug Company, Price only 50c.

Traction Insurance.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 11.—Representatives of traction interests in the east and middle and central west, representing many millions of dollars in railway and interurban traction properties, met here and decided upon the formation of four insurance companies. The object of the formation of these companies is to carry the insurance on this kind of property, and it is stated that the insurance on over $100,000,000 represented in the industry was pledged to the new organizations.

Asks For Record of Aches and Pains.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Senator Tillman presented a resolution directing the secretary of war to furnish the senate copies of all papers making up the record of the department in the case of the difficulty between regular and state troops at Athens, O., Aug. 19, 1904, in which a militiaman was killed. He asked immediate consideration for the resolution. Senator Tillman explained that he had secured this exact information from the secretary of war, which he believed would satisfy the senate. Mr. Tillman accepted Mr. Foraker's statement.

FINE NECKTIES FOR MEN.

Narrow Four in Hands Give Way to Flat Acolts

"To describe in a few words the general tendency in necktie styles this winter," said the salesman in the Fifth Avenue haberdashery, "one would say that they are narrow and subdued in tint. One inch and a half is the width of the smart four in hand of the season. It should be, moreover, dark blue, green or purple."

These narrow silk ties wear best in the fine thread, although those of the thicker threads are a great deal worn and are unusually cheaper, but they do not tie so well. Some smart shades come only in this thicker silk, including rich purples and browns. Then the greens are warmer than in the fine silk threads.

These ties, like all the silk thread four-in-hands are drawn tight, the object being to keep the knot as narrow as the rest of the tie. All these ties are in solid colors, the only exception being those of the thicker silk, which are flecked with white.—New York Sun.

"I had tried everything for my baby until Dr. Lyle recommended Cascasew. I can truthfully say it is the best medicine I ever used for babies. My little baby was a mere skeleton from stomach trouble—so bad that she did not notice anything, but is now entirely well, and we can almost see her grow."—Nannie L. Taylor, Bedford, Va. Fireman Rescued From Debris.

New York, Jan. 8.—The search for the three firemen who went down with the ruins when Hill's paper warehouse was burned Sunday night was suddenly halted as the sound of some one rapping on a timber from within the debris was quickly heeded. For nearly 24 hours, with brief respites, the firemen had sought the bodies of

It was raised on seven acres.The only way to hold up the price of tobacco is to keep down the acreage.
The Society of Equity should impress this on its members and all who are not members. Keep the acreage down and the price up.Tobacco is bringing a good price.
There is no kick coming from the farmers. They are all well pleased and

AS TO PENSIONS.

The Senate has passed a pension bill which will probably add $15,000,000 to the annual charge on the government for pensions. It authorizes a pension on application of $12 a month to civil war veterans 62 years of age and over;
$15 a month to those 65 and over, and $20 a month to those 70 years and over.
This pension business is growing, as it should. The government never paid a dollar to a more worthy or deserving set of men. We haven't always felt the way toward the old soldiers, but the older we get the more respect we have for the old veterans who wore the blue or those who wore the gray. We lift our hat to any man who is brave enough and had the courage to lay down his life for his country. We owe our standing as a world power today to the services of the men who went out and fought for our rights. As Senator Teller truly says: "Fifteen millions, twenty millions, or even thirty millions, were not too much for pensions."There ought to be a pension for every old Confederate veteran, too. He fought for principle and for what he conceived was his right. He had a right to rebel, and quoting Senator Teller, "that right was the dearest privilege of the human race."There was a heated discussion in the Senate over the pension bill. It was not angry, but tempered with good feeling and free from sectional bitterness.
Nothing would strengthen the chords that bind this nation more than a recognition by the powers that be of the rights of the worthy old Confederate veterans.

home in Bedford, Oklahoma.The members of the Baptist church and Sunday school presented Mrs. J. R.
Wimp with a handsome silver com-memorial as a reward for faithful work done as organist, Mrs. Wimp having had charge of the organ and choir for a number of years. Mrs. Wimp has assisted in this time several faithful assistants in singing who have helped to make this one of the very best church choirs outside of the larger cities.Gable & Sons, of Evansville, Ind., are here this week soliciting stock to open a canning factory at this place.
This enterprise has proved a success in other towns and if the people of Irving-

The February Smart Set.

Gertrude Lynch is the author of a striking novel, "Winds of the World," which opens the February Smart Set,
and a story with more original plot has not recently appeared. Two women ruled in the same country town are thrown together in an extraordinary way after many years of separation, the one poor, the other fabulously rich.
Following this seemingly odd situation is an entirely new and unexpected development. Miss Lynch's gift for searching character analysis has never been more in evidence, and this piece of work will, beyond question, give her a lasting place among modern fiction writers.Little touches of back-ache should not be allowed to go unattended. Rheumatism and many other things follow.
A box of DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills will bring relief quickly. They drive the poison from the body. Act on the liver as well as the kidneys. A 25 cent box holds a week's treatment. Sold by all druggists.

Breckenridge News,
Cloverport, Ky.In your paper of the 21st inst., some one writes and seemingly tries to inform the public that Mrs. Roff, of Stephensport, Ky., "my dear mother," has raised up ungrateful children that don't care about her in her old and infirm days. I am glad the Master knows all about the intent and purposes of his children. I have been satisfied long ago that if any of us had to be judged by mortals, that some one would send us to hell.Respectfully,
P. Roff.

BUSINESS MEN

Threaten to Leave Hawesville. Tax Rate Causing Much Complaint.

Hawesville, Ky., Jan. 12.—At a meeting of the City Council of this place last night the tax rate for the city was fixed at seventy-five cents on the hundred, and they voted to raise their present salary to almost double of what it has heretofore been. The city has been getting $1,500 from three saloons; but as they have been voted out at this place, the Council is trying to raise the taxes enough to offset this loss the city can continue to have electric lights and water protection, but this does not explain the increase in salaries. The business men of the town are all making complaints and will have a meeting at once to see if anything can be done to reduce this levy and the salaries of the Councilmen who are at present getting more than was ever paid here before. Several business houses in town are already being advertised for sale, and it is reported to-day that several more will close unless something is done at once.

Hardinsburg, Ky., Jan. 15.—(Special).—Col. L. F. Green, C. V. Robertson and J. M. Howard will build a telephone line from Falls of Rough via Glendene to Hardinsburg. The line will be a strong and substantial one and will furnish good service. Plans are being perfected to begin work on the line this spring.

A MOTHER WANTS

THE SALOONS CLOSED.

Tarboro, Ky., Jan. 13, 1907. Let our people help Cloverport to close the saloons. It is as much to our welfare as it is to the citizens of Cloverport. How often do we see our boys, the very blossom of our home, crazed with that awful demon, whiskey. Not only our boys but our husbands as well.

As a mother I greatly see the need of local opinion in Cloverport. Even men of 33 years of age, who have grown up sons, will go to Cloverport and come home drunk. My dear people and friends let us join heart and hands and try to help Cloverport close her saloons. Written by an interested mother.

MARDI GRAS AND HARDINSBURG.

Site For Fair Grounds Purchased. Newsy Letter From Our Neighboring Town.

HARDINSBURG, Ky.—A meeting of the Board of Directors of The Breckenridge Fair Association was held here Monday. The farm of the Rev. W. H. Foreman, containing 105 acres and lying on the Louisville road, about one and one-fourth miles from the court house, was purchased for the Fair grounds. It is a fine site and is accessible from all roads. The price paid was $2,000. A part of the tract will be sold and there is a considerable body of timber on the land which can be utilized in the fencing and buildings, so that it will actually cost the company less than $1,000. It is admirably located with reference to the railroad, and a switch can be run into the grounds with very little expense.

The resignation of W. R. Moorman as a director was tendered and accepted and W. J. Piggott, of Irvington, was elected to succeed him.

After appointing a few committees the Board adjourned to meet on Tuesday, February 19, next.

Dr. John E. Kinchloe is to go to Louisville to-day to attend a banquet given by the Physicians and Surgeons' Society. He will respond to the toast, "The Ethics of the Profession."

C. V. Robertson has purchased of the May heirs the lot at the west end of Second lot. The consideration is $275. Humphrey Marshall has purchased 120 acres of the Jacob Smith farm, lying near Glendene. Consideration, $1,400.

Mrs. Fannie Board, of Garfield, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Evans last week.

Jesse Brumington, of Sedwick, Kas., is at home on a visit to his mother, Mrs. Missouri Brumington. It has been seven years since he was here and he noticed many improvements in the town and country.

W. S. Ball was in Louisville on a business trip last week.

Miss Mattie Reid was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Gus D. Shellman Saturday.

Mrs. Fred Perry, of Cloverport, who has been visiting Col. and Mrs. D. R. Murray and other relatives, returned home Monday.

Preston Ford, of Louisville, visited his mother, Mrs. Mary Ford, several days of last week.

George Lyddan, of Irvington, was in town Monday, on a business trip.

Joseph Glascock was here Monday to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the Breckenridge Fair Association.

H. B. Drake, of Irvington, has been appointed local manager for the Cumberland Telephone Company.

Percy M. Beard was in Owensboro last week on a business trip.

Lon Jarboe, of Kirk, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dennie Sheeran Sunday.

Mrs. Mary C. Heston is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Thomas, at Leitchfield.

C. V. Robertson went to Stanford to attend a stock sale.

Passed Cloverport

Treading the Waters.

Walking on the waters of the Ohio on his forty days' journey from Cincinnati to New Orleans Prof. Oldrieve passed Cloverport last Wednesday morning on his perilous undertaking. The greater portion of the town congregated on the river bank to witness this novel mode of traveling.

Prof. Oldrieve has waged $5,000 that he will make the distance successfully within the time specified. Although several hours behind schedule times when he passed Cloverport he felt sure of the outcome, as the tide of the Mississippi, when he reached it, would carry him much faster.

Prof. Oldrieve wears a large cedar coat and his movements are very similar to one skating.

BADLY INJURED

IN RUNAWAY

Julian H. Brown Had Miraculous Escape From Death Last Wednesday.

A runaway accident on last Wednesday just before noon came near causing the death of Mr. Julian H. Brown, a well-known young merchant and liveryman of this city. He is now lying at his home suffering from severe injuries received in the accident.

Mr. Brown was driving a team of horses hitched to a light wagon and was returning from Tar Springs. In descending a steep hill about a mile from town one of the wagon wheels ran into a ditch and Mr. Brown was pitched forward between the horses. This frightened the animals and they began running. In the fall Mr. Brown's feet were tangled in the lines and single wheels. Unable to extricate himself he clung to the wagon pole with both arms and in this perilous position he was dragged for nearly a mile, his head being frequently dashed against rocks in the road and his body also received severe bruises and cuts.

On reaching O'Connell's store the horses were frightened into a telephone pole and brought to a standstill. Mr. Brown was carried into the store and medical aid summoned. It was at first thought that his injuries would prove fatal. A severe gash was cut in the back of his head and his forehead and body were badly injured. However, no bones were broken, and unless serious complications arise Mr. Brown will shortly recover.

APPEAL FOR AID

An appeal for aid has been sent out to this county by the Chairman of the Kentucky Finance Committee of the Jamestown Exposition for a contribution to further advertise Breckenridge county's resources.

There are few counties in the State that have the natural advantages and opportunities that Breckenridge county has to become a leading factor in the State's march of progress, and to get the necessary influx of capital and labor for the proper development of her resources every means available to obtain this end should be used.

Breckenridge county's asphalt and limestone deposits and her timber and agricultural resources should not lack the proper advertising that is due them by the citizens of the county.

To this end Breckenridge county is asked to contribute during the week beginning January 21 the sum of $205.41 for the advertising of the State's resources at the Jamestown Exposition.

Mr. J. C. Nolte, secretary of the commercial club of Cloverport, has been appointed as vice-chairman of the Division of Finance for Breckenridge county, and the committee selected to solicit funds for the above cause is composed of the following gentlemen: Robert Polk, Cloverport; Roy Moorman, Hardinsburg; Dr. L. B. Moreman, Irvington; Roland Smith, Stephensport; Chas. Blanford, Bewleyville.

STEPHENSPOET.

Miss Lena Payne was in Central City a few days last week to settle up her father's business.

Miss Jennie May Black, of Hawesville, is here to spend the winter with her mother, Mrs. John Adair.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robison have rented rooms from Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Helm.

R. H. Bennett is sick at this writing.

A. T. Blaine is visiting his mother, Mrs. E. A. Blaine.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rhodes, of Brandenburg, were guests of their daughter, Mrs. Dr. Nevitt last week.

Little Henry Nevitt has returned home after spending the holidays in Brandenburg.

Henry Plock has sold his farm and will move to Tell City in the near future.

Mrs. M. L. Roberts and Miss Pauline Moorman left Monday for Owensboro where they will join a party for a trip to Old Mexico.

Mrs. Floyd Miller and daughter, of Henderson, passed through town last week enroute to Chemult to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ab Allen.

Little Alice Louise Dix is on the sick list.

Miss Ida Jarrett is visiting relatives in Cloverport.

Mrs. Geo. Driscoll and daughter have returned from a visit to Louisville.

Miss Annie Dietman is on the sick list.

Small Boy Hurt.

Mike Tucker, the twelve-year-old son of Mr. Nathaniel Tucker, of this city, received injuries on last Thursday by coming in contact with the steps to the caboose of a moving freight train.

The boy, with some companions, was walking beside the track when the train approached. It is presumed that in an attempt to hop the train he lost his footing and was thrown directly in front of the steps, which struck him in the head, rendering him unconscious. The injuries were slight and the boy is about well.

Remains Brought Here.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mattingly died on last Saturday in Louisville at the home of the little Sisters of the Poor, where she had been staying for the past year or two.

Mrs. Mattingly was the widow of Mr. James Mattingly, who died many years ago, and was, before her removal to Louisville, one of the oldest and best known citizens of Cloverport.

She was sixty-two years of age and death was due to senility. Deceased was a consistent member of the Catholic church and her remains were conveyed here on Monday and interred in St. Rose's Catholic cemetery beside those of her husband. The funeral was from St. Rose Catholic church.

A daughter, Mrs. Henry Lewis, of this city, survives her.

Undergoes Operation.

Tom Ferry, a machinist at the railway shops at this place, was taken to Louisville on last Thursday where he underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Norton Infirmary. The operation was successful and the patient is convalescing.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers; they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It is to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle by mail. Some of the best free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmor & Co., Birmingham, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake! Remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, and the address, Birmingham, N. Y. 100 every bottle.

IDENTITY
Of the Man Who Threw the Bomb in the Philadelphia Bank.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—With the finding of the personal effects of the man who, when refused $5,000 cash, threw the bomb in the Fourth Street National bank on Saturday, killing Cashier W. Z. McLeer and himself, there is little doubt left in the minds of the police officials that he was Rollo Steele of Garner, Iowa. The bomb thrower was found on the roof of the building at the Grant House, a hostelry on the outskirts of the Tenderloin. The man registered as J. S. Steele of New York.

When detectives searched the room they found several yards of slow fuse, a number of detonating caps, a revolver, box of cartridges in the grip, together with a number of tools and some clothing. There was a suit bearing the tag of a Chicago clothing house and a pair of overalls marked with the name of a Lynchburg (Va.) merchant. There was also a waybill for a box shipped over the Southern railway. It is probable that none of those hurt by the explosion saw the man.

William J. Crump, the negro messenger in the bank, the most seriously injured, has been operated on.

White Man Lynced.
Charles City, Ia., Jan. 10.—James Cullen, who murdered his wife and 15-year-old stepson, was taken from the Floyd county jail here by a mob and hanged to the Cedar river bridge, in the heart of the city. The mob broke into the jail and easily overpowered the feeble resistance that Sheriff Bernheimer was able to offer. The mob was composed of many of the city's leading citizens of the town, and the leaders made no attempt to disguise themselves. Cullen fought like a tiger, but was overpowered. He declared that his wife and son had attacked him and that he had killed them in self-defense. Four or five ministers and a large number of women were in the crowd.

Japanese Squadron Will Go as Far as Honolulu Only.
Tokyo, Jan. 11.—The Japanese government has decided that on account of anti-Japanese agitation on the Pacific coast the training squadron will not visit the Pacific coast, but will go as far as Honolulu only.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Members of the California delegation in congress in discussing the decision of the Japanese government to abandon the proposed trip of the training squadron to the Pacific coast on account of the anti-Japanese agitation, expressed the opinion that San Francisco would have been a welcome port of call.

Representative Kahn suggested the action of the Tokyo government to have been on the advice of the Japanese consul at San Francisco.

Airline Survey.
Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 7.—Engineers have completed the survey for the proposed New York and Chicago airline as far as Tyrell Hill, near Sharon, Pa. They claim the line from Chicago to Tyrell Hill is perfectly straight with a single exception, this being at a cemetery near Tyrell Hill, which they had to clear to the right.

Engineers had to clear the cemetery for Chicago, but soon will resume operations from Tyrell Hill to New York. The statement is made that the construction of the New York and Chicago airline is to begin as soon as the survey is completed.

Shot Bride and Suicided.
New York, Jan. 10.—William Igoe, a truck driver, shot his wife, Mary, 14, when he found her at her mother's home. He then shot his brother-in-law, Wm. Vehmeyer, 17, and himself. Igoe will die, but his brother and brother probably will recover.

Igoe and the girl met the first time Thanksgiving day and were married three days later. They were together, the girl showing a disposition to remain with her mother, who, to avoid Igoe, moved into a new home.

Councilman On Trial.
Pittsburg, Jan. 7.—William A. Martin, member of council, is on trial on a charge of misdemeanor, it being alleged he received a $70,000 bribe in connection with several orders of the Pittsburg and Tube City railroad. He is also charged along with C. S. Cameron, president of the railroad, with conspiracy to bribe. Cameron is in jail and only the misdemeanor charge was taken up.

Philosophy of Egg Colors.

To the editor of The Sun.—Sir: For the sake of the correspondent who could not find an acquaintance in all the great city of New York who could inform him why the yolks of eggs vary in color, but had to resort to the columns of this paper, I will say: The whole problem may be solved in the one word "feed."

If an industrious hen feeds on good old hard yellow corn and plenty of other yellow vegetables and some meat, her eggs will take on that golden hue so prized by egg eaters. If on the other hand, she is fed on oats and has no meat or other food of a yellow or reddish yellow color the yolks will be of the "pale" egg and the golden one. It is only the looks, and the difference between this and cooking but is in one case the housewife does it, and in this case the hen herself attends to it if she has the proper food.

A spoiled egg is never "pale." It is usually deep yellow or red.

Japs Not Eligible.
Washington, Jan. 11.—Naturalization officers in Washington say the question of whether Japanese subjects can become citizens of the United States already has been settled adversely by the circuit courts in the United States, which have declared that, not being either white persons or persons of African nativity, they are not entitled to that privilege. The question, it is said, has never been taken to the supreme court of the United States. The decisions of the circuit courts in construing the law on this subject have been accepted by the naturalization officials as final.

A Great Outside Remedy.
Most pains are of local origin—a "crick" in the back, a twinge of rheumatism, a soreness all over arising from a cold—are all cured by outside applications. The quickest, safest and most certain method is Alcock's Plaster, known the world over. Chief Relief remedy for pain. They never fail, they act promptly, they are clean and cheap. You can go right ahead with your work while the healing process goes on. Sixty years' use has given them a great reputation.

Trouble at French Shoe Factories.
Paris, France, Jan. 10.—Shoemaker factories here, which looked out their employes two months ago, reopened, but only 800 out of 1,500 men returned to work. Intense excitement prevails in this city. A delegation of 30 children of the shoemakers went to Paris with the object of arousing sympathy.

Salekeeper Shot.
Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 9.—Ernest Miller, a local politician, shot and probably fatally wounded Morris B. Sedgeph, saloonkeeper. A dispute over a license is said to have caused the shooting. Miller is under arrest.

Family Asphyxiated.
Burlington, Vt., Jan. 7.—The entire family of George Devino, at Winslow, consisting of six persons, were killed by illuminations which were set off from a break in the street main through a sewer pipe.

It Takes Nerve
Everything depends upon your nerves. It is nerve force that causes the brain to direct the motion of your body; it is nerve force that causes your heart to pulsate, and send the blood through your veins; it is nerve force that causes your stomach to digest food, your kidneys to filter the blood, and the liver to secrete bile.

If you feel, nerve force is the power that runs your body, so if in fact, nerve force, or, in other words, nerve power, cannot sleep, or eat well, have pain or misery anywhere, your nerves are weak, and your system runs down.

To restore this vitality take Dr. Miles' Nerve which will strengthen and build up the nerves. You cannot be healthy without strong nerves.

For a long time Dr. Miles' Nerve and Anti-Pain Pills have been known the world over. They are a life, while raising children, my nerves were so weak, I could not sleep, had no appetite; indigestion, nervousness, and I began to improve, and soon found myself in perfect health.

DR. MILES' NERVE is sold by your druggist, or by mail, for $1.00 per bottle. If it fails, he will refund your money. Write for free literature to Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind.

EMERGENCY CAMPAIGN.

Subscriptions for Kentucky--
Jamestown Movement Sought
From This Congressional District.

A herculean effort will be made during the week commencing Monday, Jan. 21, to complete the fund of $40,000 required to give Kentucky a proper representation at the Jamestown Exposition. The Exposition will open at Norfolk, Va., April 26, next, and promises to be one of the most interesting World's Fairs ever held. The Kentucky General Assembly failed to provide a fund for a State Building or a State Exhibit and the task must be carried out by the citizens of this Commonwealth. Members of the Kentucky Jamestown Exposition Commission, of which Col. J. Stoddard Johnson is president, have been devoting their time and services gratuitously to this movement and now they call on the public spirited citizens of the State, arguing with considerable force that Kentucky's participation in the Exposition will be an assistance toward the general development of the State. It is further pointed out that Kentucky, recognized as the first and foremost daughter of Virginia should, above all other states, have a place in this Exposition.

Believing that the public spirited citizens and business enterprises of Kentucky will not permit the State to go unrepresented, the Kentucky Commission has already secured an ideal site for a State Building and has begun the collection of the logs which will be used in a replica of the Fort of Boonesboro--Kentucky's proposed structure at the Fair. It is hoped to send to Jamestown on or about Feb. 1, the first shipment of logs for the building and exhibits from this State.

The week of Jan. 21, has been designated as "Kentucky-Jamestown Week." A personal canvass for funds will be made in every county of the State. An equitable division of the sum expected from the entire State has been made. Each county is requested to raise a sum amounting to 1 per cent. of the revenue turned over by the county to the State treasury for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905. Each county in the State has much natural wealth and many possibilities to offer to outside investors, and it is felt that an exhibit and a State Building will attract attention to Kentucky and give interest in her resources and possibilities.

For the counties of this Congressional district, vice-chairman of the Division of the State, are asked to solicit the respective counties are asked to subscribe to the fund as follows:

Fourth District--Breckinridge, $203.41, Joel H. Pile, Hardinsburg, County Chairman--Grayson, $116.22, Life Green, Falls of Rough, County Chairman--Hardin, $251.32, Prof. J. L.

Pilkerton, Elizabethtown, County chairman--Meade, $151.91, Judge J. L. Hays, Brandenburg, County chairman.

Gillette's Blunder.

If Chester Gillette, charged with pushing "Billy" Brown into an Adirondack lake to get rid of her, is not dead to all the best and finest in womanly character, he must by this time realize that he threw away the love and life-long devotion of a girl who, in any event, was much too good for him.

The letters from the girl published during his trial show a delicacy of feeling, a richness of character and a heart of pure devotion rare among women of any class. Factory girl though she was, and unlettered, the letters are of the best literary. That is, they are full of human feeling, expressed with pathetic, direct sympathy.

"I am about crazy now," she writes in one of her last letters. "I have been bidding good-bye to some places today. There are so many nooks, dear, and all of them so dear to me. I have lived here nearly all my life. First, I said good-bye to the old sprig house, with the great masses of green moss; then the beehive, a cute little house in the orchard, and, of course, to all of the neighbors that have mended my dresses from a little top up, to save me thrashings I really deserved." She seemed to have a premonition of the end, a foreboding of disaster.

Gillette's sensibilities were too blunt, however, to appreciate the delicate refinement of the woman whose real character shines like light in this brief extract. She was a factory girl--good enough to play with, to dishonor, to kill, perhaps, if she grew troublesome, but not good enough to become his wife. As in so many other cases, he was not good enough for her. He missed the greatest blessing that can come to a man in this life because he was not worthy of it. He was blind and knew it not, when he had it within his grasp.

It is a terrible lesson to all men, and women, too, for that matter. Social conditioning is so index to real character. Indeed, it often obscures the best and cloaks the worst womanly and manly spirit. "Billy" Brown worked in a factory. But her letters, written without art, are the very best proof of her superiority to all conditions. The case is a reminder of the injunction, "Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgement," an injunction which any man or woman can heed who is not so blinded by fear and social prejudice that he can not distinguish appearance from right truth--St. Louis Post Dispatch.

HARGIS TRIAL STOPPED

Writ of Prohibition Issued by the Court of Appeals.

CHARGES AGAINST THE JUDGE

Alleged He is Conducting the Case in an Arbitrary Manner and is Overstepping the Bounds of Law--Excitement Subsides at Jackson. Prosecution Elated.

Jackson, Ky., Jan. 11.--The trial of Judge James Hargis on the charge of participating in the assassination of Dr. D. B. Cox in this city, three years ago, was suddenly postponed here as the result of a writ of prohibition issued by the court of appeals of Kentucky.

The writ was granted upon the application of Attorney General N. B. Hays and James B. Adams, commonwealth's attorney for the Second judicial district. The petitioners alleged that Special Judge William Carnes of Williamstown, who was appointed by Governor Beckham to try the case of Judge Hargis and others charged with the assassination of Dr. Cox, is conducting the trial in an arbitrary manner and is overstepping the bounds of the law.

The principal objection to Judge Carnes was his ruling that temporarily suspended Sheriff Breck Crawford and the naming of Robin Burton as juror. The petitioners alleged that Judge Carnes has directed the clerk to summon bystanders for the jury, which is in violation of a statute passed at the last session of the legislature.

The writ of prohibition has wrought a great change in the feeling of the people of this city. Judge Carnes said that he thought the writ could be dismissed on a demurrer, which he would file when he reached Frankfort. The excitement has subsided and the town is almost deserted.

Judge Hargis appears to be bewildered by the writ. It is the hardest blow that has come to him in any of his trials, and the prosecution is much elated.

Judge Carnes had wired Governor Beckham asking that 50 soldiers be sent to guard him against assassination, as his life is in danger. Civil authorities, he says, are powerless to protect him. The little city, which has been the scene of much turbulence and bloodshed in the past few years, is intensely excited over a condition bordering on a reign of terror. It is a result of the same cause which brought about all previous troubles--the feud between the Hargis faction and their opponents. The jury in the case has not been selected, as it has been found impossible to secure 12 men from Breckitt county who are not afraid to pass judgment on their fellow townsman and most powerful citizen. The people of Jackson want the case removed from Jackson as far as possible.

FATALITIES

That Attended the Explosion at Jones & Laughlin Furnace.

Pittsburg, Jan. 11.--Preliminary investigation to ascertain the number of fatalities that occurred at the Eliza Furnaces of the Jones & Laughlin Steel company when an accumulation of gas exploded, bursting the base of the large furnaces and showering tons of molten metal over about 40 men, was completed, and shows that the bodies of 12 men horribly mutilated have been recovered; from 15 to 20 men are missing, it being generally believed their bodies were consumed by the hot metal, and 10 men are in hospitals terribly burned, four of whom are expected to die momentarily. It is doubtful whether the number of men killed will be ever known. From present indications over 15 men were caught like rats in a trap by the metal, which flowed over their bodies to a depth of six feet. No trace of them, it is said, will ever be found.

Negro Soldiers in Philippines.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 9.--Women of the Cincinnati W. T. U. will be asked to unite in a protest against the removal of the colored troops of the United States army to the Philippines. At the head of this movement is Miss Mary Benick, leader of the purity section of Christian Temperance work. The matter will be brought before the union at its next meeting. The native women of the Philippines, Miss Benick declares, are entitled to the same protection as the women living in the states at home.

Harriman Recovers.

New York, Jan. 8.--E. H. Harriman gave personal assurance that he was not seriously ill. He said: "I underwent an unromantic little operation recently, but it was not of any consequence. I hear there have been reports of my sickness, though I have not read the newspapers. I expect to go out at once." Mr. Harriman refused to discuss the interstate commerce commission's investigation of the railroads in which he is interested.

Outraged by Negro.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 9.--Miss Gladys Shelton, 17, daughter of a well-to-do farmer near Monroe, Amherst county, was outraged by a negro. The negro took her to a creek to drown her. He changed his mind and made her go to a neighbor's home, while he went in another direction. Five negroes were arrested and Sheriff Beard and a deputy for two miles. The girl's condition is precarious, but she will recover.

Widow Gov. Hoadly's Daughter.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 9.--Mrs. Johnson, the widow of Dr. Philip Edward Johnson, who was killed in Portland, Ore., is the only daughter of the late ex-Governor Hoadly of Ohio. She was born and spent her early life in Cincinnati. Mrs. Johnson was formerly Laura Hoadly. Some 10 years ago Mrs. Johnson, then Miss Hoadly, removed with her father to New York city, and has since made that place her home until her marriage with Dr. Johnson last October. The couple removed later to Portland, Ore. Dr. Johnson's body was found beneath a railroad bridge. It is believed he was the victim of thugs. Johnson's father is Episcopal archdeacon of Staten Island, N. Y.

Successor McCrea.

Pittsburg, Jan. 11.--At a meeting of the directors of the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus railroad, held here, the resignation of James McCrea as president was accepted and Joseph Wood, the new first vice president of the Pennsylvania lines, was elected in his stead. Daniel T. McCabe was elected a director.

Wilson to Retire.

Washington, Jan. 10.--It is reported that Secretary James Wilson of the department of agriculture will retire from the cabinet March 4, when Secretary Shaw and Hitchcock go out. The president, it is asserted, has selected Gifford Pinchot, now chief of the bureau of forestry, to succeed Wilson. Pinchot is from New York.

To Succeed Alger.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 11.--Congressman William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids was nominated to succeed United States Senator Russell A. Alger. As there are only half a dozen Democrats in the state legislature, nomination by the Republican caucus is equivalent to an election.

All the good qualities of Ely's Cream Balm, solid, are found in Liquid Cream Balm, which is intended for use in atomizers. That it is an unfailing cure for Nasal Catarrh is proved by an ever-increasing mass of testimony. It does not dry out nor rasp the tender air-passages. It allays the inflammation and goes straight to the root of the disease. Obsolete old cases have been cured in a few weeks. IN PEONAGE

Italians Claim to Have Been Held in West Virginia Camps.

Washington, Jan. 9.--Claiming that they had been held practically in peonage in a West Virginia lumber camp, a group of Italians passed through this city bound for Hoboken, N. J. The workmen claim that wages are due them and are now being withheld. They claim that the Italian ambassador to obtain what is coming to them. According to their story the men were sent to Virginia last November through a labor agent in Hoboken. On arriving at the camp, 18 miles from Prince, W. Va., they found that they were expected to do blasting. The men protested and started to walk back when they claim they were rounded up by 12 armed men, who called themselves deputy sheriffs, and held them in a lumber camp for several days in a box car. For the first five days they had only bread and water and for two days thereafter the food supplied was of the poorest. Hunger compelled them to work, but sufficient funds were raised for nine of them to buy their release and permit them to return to Hoboken.

Fayne Gilman Held.

Dayton, O., Jan. 8.--Fayne Gilman, sister of Dona, was arrested on an affidavit sworn out by Constable Hancock of Magistrate Markley's court, charging her with complicity in the murder of her sister. It is asserted that Constable William Gilman of Cincinnati, who has been investigating the murder, is back of the arrest. Mrs. Leah Gilman and her son Collins are already awaiting grand jury action, having been bound over on the charge of complicity in the death of the girl. The grand jury began an investigation of the case. Coroner Kline gave out his verdict, and in it he sticks to his first conclusion that the crime was committed by Dave Curtis, the half-witted newsboy, who confessed and later retracted his confession, saying he was forced to make it by the police. Curtis was released. The coroner's finding exonerates all members of the Gilman family from complicity in the crime.

Of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the Great Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

No other medicine for Woman's ills in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female illnesses or such hosts of grateful friends as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing all forms of Female Complaints, Inflammation and Obstruction, and consequent Spinal Weakness.

It has cured cases of Backache and Local Weakness more than any other one remedy. It dissolves and expels tumors in an early stage of development. Irregularities and periodical pains, Weakness of the Stomach, Indigestion, Bloating, Nervous Prostration, Headache, General Debility quickly yield to its action. It cures all deranged organs, causing pain, dragging sensations and backache. Under all circumstances it acts in harmony with the female system.

It removes that wearisome feeling, extreme lassitude, "don't care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, dizziness, faintness, sleeplessness, flatulency, melancholy or the "blues". These are indications of Female Weakness or some derangement of the organs, which this medicine cures as well as Chronic Kidney Complaints and Backache, of either sex.

Those women who refuse to accept anything else are rewarded a hundred thousand times, for they get what they want--a cure. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Refuse all substitutes.
